

GYPSY'S NEIGHBORHOOD

2021

Gypsy.

Tom Turkey wants to be her friend.

The rabbit warns her about her eggs.

Gypsy laid an egg a day in the daylilies.

She sat on them to keep them warm.

But a skunk found them one night at 1:00 a.m. and ate most of them, making loud slurping noises to show his satisfaction.

Spring bursting out in flowers.

Ethel arrived and moved in under the chicken house.

She learned quickly that she could help herself to the chicken's food inside the hen house.

During the day, she took naps under the house where she could look out.

The first thing in the morning, she crawls out while everyone is asleep.

She wonders when the big door will open.

She knows that food is just behind that door.

She's getting hungrier and hungrier.

She tries to open the little side door.

No one is up yet.

The dawn photos were taken with an infra-red digital scouting camera triggered by movement, an outdoor Trail Camera on a tripod. Other photographs were taken with an Olympus digital camera or an i-phone 12 Pro Max.
