SUMMER 2021

HABITAT RAMBLERS

As soon as it gets dark, the rabbits are wide awake.

Skunk is curious about the asparagus bed.

Fox rushes through and then back.

Raccoon goes west. Cat comes east.

Fox returns with a mate.

The deer suspects she is not alone.

At dawn, the catbird is the first to arrive.

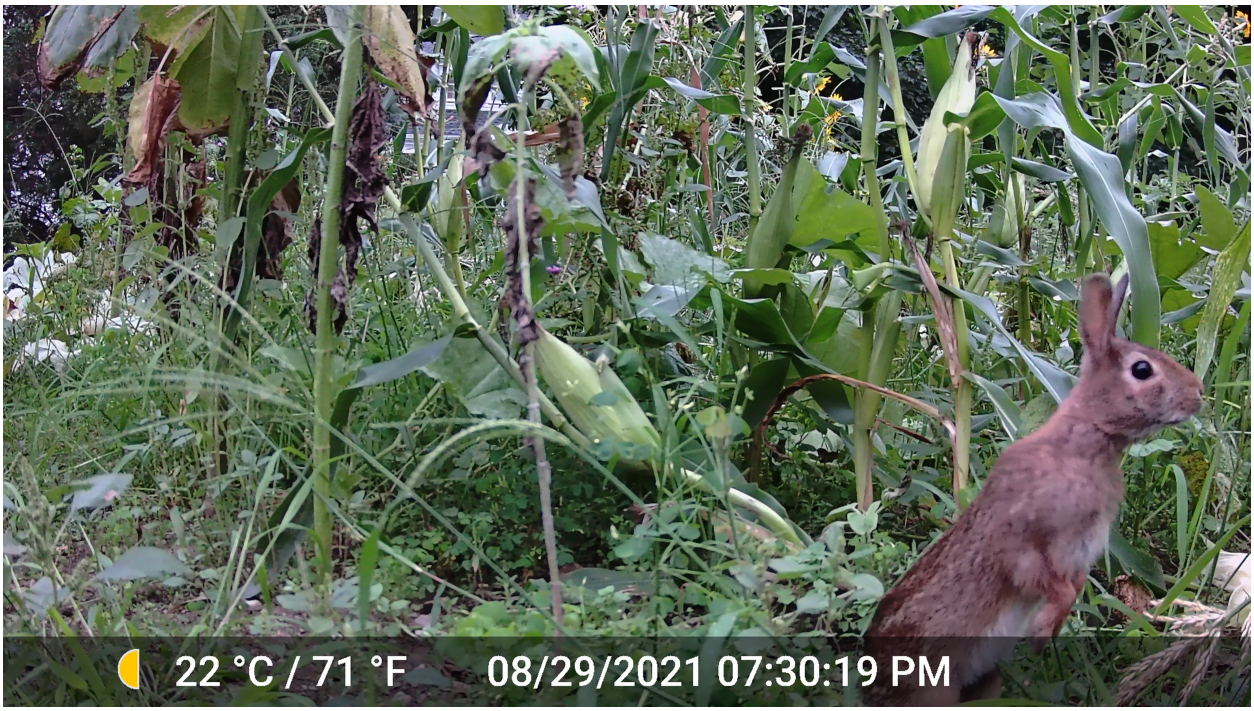

She stays a long time.

Tree sparrows search the ground.

Rabbits are back, listening.

Chipmunk announces his home in the woodpile.

Goldfinches come as the sun rises higher.

Two sparrows converse while a squirrel explores the corn.

Squirrel makes a feast of his findings.

These nighttime and dawn photos were taken with an infa-red digital scouting camera triggered by movement, an outdoor Trail Camera on a tripod.
